

i strongly support the do not call list. i consider telemarketing to be a form of harassment, and people should have protection from that harassment if requested.